

Carbon Ethics

Who Wins, Who Loses?

Melbourne
Tuesday 18th November 2008,
 Luncheon event: 12:00pm –3:00pm,
 The Arts Centre

Sydney
Thursday 20th November 2008,
 Breakfast event: 7:00am –10:00am,
 Hilton Hotel Grand Ballroom

Placing a price on Carbon pollution is a defining change for Australia's economy, its society and its environment. There will be winners and losers, posing major ethical challenges for policy-makers, as well as serious financial questions, particularly in this time of economic instability...

The next Green Capital event will look at the question of who should pay and who should be supported. It will discuss the shift from current unsustainable consumption to more ethical, sustainable objectives. It will explore the dichotomy of short-term vs. long-term. In a world where every bit of carbon comes at a price and with these thoughts in mind...

Join us in defining your Carbon Ethics...
